Dear John,

How nice to hear from you and many thanks for your generous invitation to dinner on October 5th. Unfortunately, I will not arrive in Atlanta until about eleven o'clock that night. I am making a speech in New York at the Council on Foreign Relations that evening and proceeding directly from there to Atlanta. When I hit the speaking circuit, I seem to end up giving two or three in quick succession. Unfortunately, this doesn't leave me much time to visit in between.

I'll look forward to seeing you at the breakfast, I hope. Again, many thanks.

Dear John:

5 Singles

Since over a month has passed since our last contact I though I would advise you that we have made reservations for Admiral Turner and his party including Mrs. Turner, yourself, Herb Hetu, and [Redacted] for the evening of October 5 at the Peachtree Plaza Hotel.

The Peachtree Plaza is Architect John Portman's latest creation and bills itself as the worlds tallest hotel. We chose it however primarily because it is just a block from The Equitable Building where the forum will be convened.

I expect shortly to be in touch directly with Herb Hetu about the substance of the Admiral's speech as we crank up our publicity machinery during the month of September. If there are any questions that you need answered in the meanwhile, please feel free to call.

THE CITY CLUB OF CLEVELAND

THE CREED

I hail and harbor and hear persons of every belief and party;
for within my portals prejudice grows less and bias dwindles.

I have a forum — as wholly uncensored as it is rigidly impartial.
“Freedom of Speech” is graven above my rostrum; and beside it, “Fairness of Speech”.

I am the product of the people, a cross section of their community — weak as they are weak, and strong in their strength; believing that knowledge of our failings and our powers begets a greater strength.

I have a house of fellowship; under my roof informality reigns and strangers need no introduction.

I welcome to my platform the discussion of any theory or dogma of reform; but I bind my household to the espousal of none of them, for I cherish the freedom of every person's conviction and each of my kin retains his own responsibility.

I have no axe to grind, no logs to roll. My abode shall be the rendezvous of strong — but open-minded people and my watchword shall be “information” not “reformation”.

I am accessible to people of all sides — literally and figuratively — for I am located in the heart of a city — spiritually and geographically I am the city's club. — The City Club.

Dear Stan,

We were all delighted to have you at the Council, and I was personally pleased to have you here so early in my tenure. The discussion was frank, open and thought-provoking -- just the sort of interchange we strive for but which does not always materialize. I found of particular interest your answer on why the U.S. as a democracy can compete effectively with totalitarian societies in the intelligence business.

Thank you again for coming. We hope we'll be able to have you here again soon despite the pressures of your responsibilities.

Dear Stan:

Following on our earlier correspondence, I want to explore with you an idea which I hope you will find acceptable.

Every year during the Christmas college vacation, the Council holds a meeting to which members may bring their college age sons and daughters. The purpose is to expose young people to the kind of intellectual climate which exists at the Council. It also gives them access to people they usually do not have the opportunity to meet. The thought occurred to me that in view of the crisis in confidence which has developed over the years between younger Americans and the intelligence community, you might want to be our annual speaker for the occasion. A topic related to the role of intelligence in an open society would perhaps be an appropriate one for the meeting.

Please let me know if you would consider this invitation favorably. This meeting is usually held during the last week in December.

With kind regards,

Sincerely,

Zygmunt Nagorski
